

Executives Find Respite in Difficult Job Market: Premier IP Staffing Bridges the Gap, Celebrating Five-Year Anniversary with Record-Breaking Placement Success

With unemployment rates hovering at uncomfortable highs, attorneys and executives turn to reputable placement agencies for job searches. Celebrating its official five-year anniversary, Premier IP Staffing Consultants, Inc., an executive recruitment firm, has an impressive history of matching qualified professionals with salaried positions for long-term assignments.

Camarillo, California (PRWEB) April 10, 2012 -- Attorneys are not immune to the tightening markets and can find themselves jobless in a heartbeat. What's worse, attorneys' salaries are not easily duplicated. Given the fact that Premier is entrenched at all levels of the employment market including the latest nationwide salaries and compensation packages, they remain the most effective recruitment solution for both candidate and employer alike.

Headed by Ginger Manizza, a 20-year veteran in this industry, Premier IP Staffing specializes in recruiting intellectual property attorneys, patent agents, and technical specialists for firms and companies throughout the United States and overseas.

“Our mission is to provide the very best service and representation for our clients and candidates in the industry which will enable them to succeed.”

Ms. Manizza takes a fresh approach to recruitment. She works diligently to find the best talent and, from those results, accurately matches candidates to clients, yielding long-term, successful hires. This year marks the five-year anniversary for the company, which has enjoyed a doubled growth rate since its inception.

Large technology clients such as Apple and Google have come to rely on Premier IP for pre-screened, highly qualified applicants. Smaller startups, internationally recognized law firms, and IP boutiques also routinely utilize the services of Premier IP Staffing to fill immediate and long-term positions. Premier understands the most specific engineering/technical and legal job requirements and is well equipped to thoroughly screen and place only the most talented candidates in the job market.
